

23. VIEWING THE CARCASS. This magnificent lion was killed by a hunting party of Masai natives. With only spears as weapons and with shields as their sole protection, these fearless hunters attack the lion in his jungle lair. This particular specimen was almost instantly killed with one spear throw, the weapon entering the chest and going clear through the body. The struggle is not always ended thus easily, the lion sometimes turning the tables and killing several of the natives.
